NOTICES ON TAX-PAYERS.

Owners of Omitted Property or Such That Has Been increased in Value Are to Be Notified.

The State Tax Commissioners were in doubt as to the kind of notice to be given those whose property does not appear on the assessors' lists and those whose property value may be increased by county boards of review. The question was sent to Attorney-general Smith, who replied that a two weeks' general notice of the meeting of the board, stating its purpose, must be given in some newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in the county, when such meeting is to occur. If there is no such paper the notice must be made by posting in three public places in each township in the county. Where the county board deems it necessary to add omitted property it shall cause the names of the persons whose property is to be added or increased to be inserted in a notice and published for two weeks in the same manner as the first notice referred to. manner as the first notice referred to, fixing the day and hour for hearing. After the board has sufficiently examined the lists to determine the particular pieces of property, the values of which they desire to increase, and those which have been omitted, the notice to be given should embrace all such names in one publication.

Or in lieu of the publication provided as last above stated, the board may give notice in writing to the persons whose innotice in writing to the persons whose in-terests are to be affected, which notice must be issued by the auditor to the sheriff and served at least three days before the matter therein referred to comes up for hearing. Such notice must be served by the sheriff in the same manner as summon are served, and at the cost of the person named therein, provided the property is added to the list or its value increased. The notice to be so served may contain any number of names of persons whose property is sought to be affected.

THE PETITION WAS GRANTED

After Hard Work College-Avenue People Are to Get Their Brick Pavement.

Authority to Condemn Buildings Still in Doubt -The Claim of Patterson Heirs to a Roadway the Water Company Wants.

The College-avenue people again left the office of the Board of Public Works in a happy frame of mind yesterday. The board has at last definitely promised that their improvement shall be made, and in the manner asked; that is, the street will be paved with brick from curb to ourb, from Christian avenue to the city limits. After the College-avenue people had put up their $4,000 check to pay half the city's portion of the expense, the board last week told them they would have to bring in a petition having "a large majority" of the property-owners upon it. After five days of hard "hustling" the committee appeared in force before the board yesterday morning with this last requirement filled.

"In harmony with your request," said Colonel Cocurane, who again acted as spokesman, "we have taken this petition and circulated it. We have summed up the whole matter in this recapitulation: Property-owners residing on the street signing the petition, 82; residing on the street and not signing, 28; majority favoring improvement, 54. Resident owners not residing on street signing petition, 10; same class not signing, 18; majority against 1m-provement, 8. Total number of resident property-owners, 138; majority for improvement, 44. Number of feet for improvement 6,679. The petition, together with a chart showing how the property lay, was handed over to the board. After examining the papers Mr. Conduitt promised that the improvement should be ordered as soon as the necessary forms could be gone through, and the committee departed rejoicing. Later in the morning the engineer brought in three resolutions, made necessary by the different widths of the street, together with the specifications, and they were adopted. The readway is to and they were adopted. The roadway is to

The pavement will be laid on a concrete The board also adopted a declaratory resolution and specifications for paving South Meridian street, from McCarty street to the Belt. The street-railroad company has finally indicated its intention of maintaining but a single track on the street. It will be required to move it to the center of the road way.

Question of Authority Unsettled. Building Inspector Fitchey draws his salary of $1,800 per year, and succeeds in accomplishing part of his work, but the most important branch of it, that of condemning unsafe buildings, is at a stand-still, through no fault of his own. When he reported his first batch of condemnations to the Board of Public Works, over six weeks ago, the board was much surprised that it should have anything to do with the matter. Mr. Fitchey showed the members the ordinance, plainly stating that it was their duty to make the condemnations, but the matter was allowed to glide along a week or so. Then one day the Mayor dropped in, and he and President Conduitt went through the charter until they found a clause which clearly placed the condemnation of unsafe buildings in the hands of the Board of Public Works, though the same instrument makes the inspector's office a part of the Department of Public Safety. However, two or three days later the Board of Public Works asked for an opinion from the city attorney on the subject. Whether or not Mr. Bailey considered the question unnecessary, he has not stated, but certain it is that since then he has been very busy holding down two offices and attending to little outside matters like the gerrymander and precinct ordinance, and the question has remained unanswered. All subsequent recommendations of the inspector have been filed away to await this opinion.

The board yesterday filed away four more recommendations to condemn. The first was the building at Nos. 13, 15 and 17 South Delaware street, owned by David Macy. The inspector reports it in very dangerous condition, and likely to fall to the sidewalk at any moment. The building at the northwest corner of Pennsylvania street and the Union tracks he says is in danger of toppling over upon the tracks, and should be torn down at once. It is owned by A. V. and Frank M. Dell. The other two are an old dwelling at the corner of Ellen and North streets, owned by G. L. Mason, and a frame stable in the rear of No. 76 East Maryland.

Inspector Pitchey says a mistake was made in reporting as insecure the Pierce of Public Works, over six weeks ago, the

No. 76 East Maryland.

Inspector Fitchey says a mistake was made in reporting as insecure the Pierce Block, on Massachusetts avenue. "Nothing is wrong with the block," he said to a Journal reporter. "I did report an unsafe condition of a small outbuilding back of that block, and by some clerical error in copying the words "in the rear of" were omitted. As a matter of fact, the outbuilding was in process of repair at the time, and no order of condemnation has been made. I say this in justice to Mr. Pierce, understanding that needless injury has been done the block by the error. Not the slightest complaint concerning the building exists."

Can Close New York Street. The Board of Public Works yesterday received a curt note from A. G. Wells, superintendent of the Big Four, in reply to an order for the company to plank its crossing at the intersection of New York street and Miley avenue. Mr. Wells stated that those streets had never been platted across the railroad property, and the only way this could be done was by condemnation pro-ceedings, which he believed the company could defeat. The board referred the ques-tion of fact to the city engineer, and dis-covered that Mr. Wells was right. It then referred the question of law to the city atreferred the question of law to the city attorney, and he discovered that Mr. Wells was right again. The Big Four could close up New York street if it desired to. By a decision of the Supreme Court, property condemned for railway purposes cannot be recondemned for any other public purpose. Mr. Bailey says one of the charter amendments he anguested was for the purpose of ments he suggested was for the purpose of covering this point, but it fell by the way-side, along with the rest of his amend-

Claim of the Pattersons. Merrill Moores, on behalf of the Water Company, yesterday brought to the Board of Public Works an abstract of title for the fifty-foot strip across Fall creek, which the Water Company desires to purchase from the city, in order to protect its main, which crosses the creek at that point, just north of the hospital. A little later Samuel Patterson appeared and laid claim to the title. His father, he said, dedicated this strip to the city for a roadway, in order to get to Isaac Wilson's mill, established in 1821. The mill was abandoned years ago. and with it the roadway, which reverted back to the Patterson heirs. The board will investigate the matter further before making any deal with the Water

The Wren Case. The immortal Thomas Wren case, which been in litigation ever since 1866, bobbed up before the Board of Public Works yesterday morning, when all the papers in the case were turned over to it, with the request that a new levy be made and the assessment placed on the tax dupli-days or even a week at a time. "He was punctual at his post all the time," said one of them yesterday, "except when he came here to purchase supplies for the Home. He did so, coming on Saturday evening, usually, and returning on Monday. He failed to do this but one day in the three years he was on duty there, and this was on account of the severe sickness of his wife. This statement can easily be verified by the officers and employes of the institution."

DEMANDING THE VIADUCT.

South-Side Citizens Would Like to Know What the Union Railway Company Intends to Do.

A hundred South-side citizens met at the Prospect-street engine-house, last night, to consider the viaduct question. Rev.

R. V. Hunter was elected chairman, and Mr. S. G. Leonard secretary. Mr. Hunter, in his official capacity, had the first chance at speech-making, and what he said showed he had considerable doubt of the viaduct being built if it depended on purpose of the Union Railway Company. J. L. F. Steeg is caused by some non-resident heirs to property involved, who waived legal notice till the last day and then demanded notice, which made necessary a publication for fifty-two days. This period would not be up till July 10, and the Union Railway Company, he remarked, would naturally hesitate to begin work until after that time. Councilman Murphy spoke in much the same strain. Then came Councilman Olsen, who may be always safely counted on for something in a political strain. He assured the people that the viaduct would be built, and wound up by saying "dat it vould built be by von Democradic administration." Mr. Olsen let out what before was only suspected—that Messrs. Steeg, Murphy and himself were there in the interest of that administration. Chairman Hunter did not want politics introduced, and hastily called on L. F. Raymond to speak. thought otherwise, and said the delay mond to speak. Mr. Raymond spoke briefly, closing with a resolution that a committee be appointed to look after the interests of the South Side in regard to the viaduct, and to see that no legal technicalities be allowed to Side in regard to the viaduct, and to see that no legal technicalities be allowed to prevent the promised construction. Dr. Hower said he never knew a corporation to do a thing for the public good without being forced to it. Strong organized effort was therefore necessary. Mr. Twiname favored the motion, and desired that a direct and full statement of the situation be made. He charged the delay to the North-side real-estate speculators. Mr. Strebel expressed the opinion that the ordinance had loop-holes to let the company out of building the viaduct. Property-owners who want double approaches threatened to sue for such restraining orders as the company depended on to interfere with the work. George Bruce remarked that he had assurances from Mayor Sullivan that the viaduct would be built, and the $50,000 deposited just as soon as the legal points were settled. Councilman Trusler thought the company could avoid the ordinance if it wanted to do so, but he favored agitation as the most effective way to push the project to completion. He incidentally referred to Mr. Olsen's expression of confidence, which caused the chairman again to say that it would be best to work in harmony and not on political lines. Mr. Steeg here said that it was natural for politics to crop out, as the Democrats had all favored the viaduct in the Council, while the Republicans opposed it. Mr. Trusler retorted that all the Republicans favored the building of the viaduct, but thought another form of ordinance would sooner bring it about. It was "the fool measures" adopted by the Democrats, he said, that the Republicans opposed.

The meeting came near the edge of po-opposed.

The meeting came near the edge of political recrimination when Mr. Hunter put the motion, which was voted for unanimously. The committee was then appointed, as follows, including the chairman: E. L. Williams, W. N. Wishard, Dr. J. A. Howser, L. L. Curtis, Preston Trusler, B. G. Leonard, J. L. F. Steeg, William Stolte, O. R. Olsen and M. J. Murchy. Another meeting is to be held Saturday night at Staley's drug store.
